

Department of Sociology

Call for Papers

Present society is dwelling in the domain of ideas, information and consequentially formulating the castle of knowledge. Curious minds of both intellectuals and laymen welcome transparency in communication – prime requisite of a sane and civil society. India like other developing nations foster individual's right to express and unfold phenomena happening around. Hence civil society is in the process of making and 'Right to information' being formulated as an Act in the year 2005 comes to the access of layman visioned with a developed society.

National Seminar on “Right to Information- Awareness and Response in making of Civil Society” on 24.03.18 by the department of Sociology.

Papers are invited from academicians, Government officials, scholars and students on the following sub-themes.

Sub-themes :

- (1) Right to Information – Pretext of violation of human rights
- (2) Civil Society, Citizenship and Right to Information
- (3) Right to Information - socio- legal implications
- (4) Right to Information – People's awareness and participation

Last date of online Abstract submission – 08.03.18(By 12 pm)

Organising Secretary – Prof Anita Dash, Professor and Head, Department of Sociology, Ravenshaw University, Email id-anita.dash@outlook.com, 09437141347(Mob)

Contact for queries - Miss Nupur Pattanaik, Faculty & Research Scholar
nupur.pattanaik@gmail.com , 08327771542 (Mob)